Stay tuned! An action packed episode of an action packed year. And a discussion of action packed time. Join us as we recall what happened in the past 12 months. It was a year of changes, of good and of bad, and of movies. We've also decided that it's time for a new season of our podcast. (We're not sure we'll be able to continue it, but we will certainly try!) We've already posted our main topic for this year, but we've also recorded our first and second episodes of the season. You can find them on iTunes, Spotify and wherever you like to listen to podcasts. And now, without further ado, let's jump right into this year's episode! Enjoy! #1: The Year of the Movie You might think we're going to do a whole episode just on movies. That's not quite what happened. What happened was that we covered a ton of movies. And most of them were good. And many of them were terrible. But we have some good news for you: we're going to do another movie-centric episode. But this time, we're going to get back to the roots. Back to where we started. And that means that this time, we're going to be talking about our favourite movies. We've already gone through our top 10, but that was more of a retrospective. We've decided to put more emphasis on the year that is, rather than the decade that is. So we've put together a list of the most interesting movies that we saw in 2018. The list is based on the same formula that we used for the list of the best movies of the decade. And that's the formula that we're going to use for the rest of the year. We'll be talking about the movies that we think were the best of the year. And we'll be looking at the movies that made the biggest impression on us. Let's start with the movies that we didn't like as much as we hoped. The 10 Worst Movies of 2018 1. The Art of Self Defense 2. The Hate U Give 3. The Foreigner 4. Criminal 5. The Hunt 6. The Killing of a Sacred Deer 7. A Beautiful Day in the Neighborhood 8. The Three Identical Brothers 9. The Killing of a Sacred Deer 10. A
